SPOCon VI is made possible with funds from the National Association of State Procurement Officials (NASPO), a non-profit organization dedicated to strengthening the procurement community through education, research, and communication.

NASPO ValuePoint is the largest public purchasing cooperative. States leverage their spend through single competitive solicitations conducted by a Lead State, with the support of other states and public entities.

It is a non-profit organization comprised of members from all 50 states, District of Columbia, and the US territories dedicated to elevating the procurement profession and providing tools, support, and procurement resources to public entities.

Please visit NASPOValuePoint at Table #34 or at www.naspo.org for additional information.
